THEMATIC RATIONALE

Socio-economic issues are factors that have influence on an individual and economic activities including lack of education, cultural and religious discrimination, child marriage, human trafficking, domestic violence, poverty, child abuse and child labour, corruption etc. Social and economic factors can significantly affect our wellbeing. These factors affect our ability to make healthy choices. The social and economic opportunities we have are foundational in achieving our wellbeing. Therefore, the seminar aims to explore the grass root realities so as to identify the strong indicators which would eventually improve our socio-economic conditions and thereby usher in overall economic development.
